2023 Brochure

Hello and thank you for your interest in the Wine Rascals.

What does the Wine Rascals brand stand for? With 23 years of experience under the cwwinegroup banner, we love wine. We go the extra mile to source, taste, re-taste, ruminate and cogitate over each and every wine we choose for you.

We work with families, not factories; we keep our eye on wine trends as well as wines that never go out of fashion. Inside our brochure you will find vegan wines and sustainably-minded vineyards. We make it our mission to keep up with the ever-changing tastes and values of the modern market.

We are both flexible and fussy when it comes to our tasting procedure. Each wine we add to our brochure is sourced by one of our team; it will be tasted by all of us to guarantee we are being objective. If a new vintage doesn't come up to scratch, we won't accept it. Even if we have chosen the same wine year after year, we will still blind taste to ensure we are picking the one we feel is best for our customers.

We may have a penchant for the quirky, but above all, we stock only the best quality wines, that you won't find anywhere else in the UK. Whether you're after the time-honoured or the avant-garde, the pound-stretchers or the show-stoppers.

Welcome to the Wine Rascals.

FAMILY WINERY

As you've no doubt deduced by now, there's nothing we love more at the Wine Rascals than a down-to-earth, passionate family winery. With winemaking secrets passed down the generations and a huge amount of care for their land and no mass production in sight.

SUSTAINABLE

Due to their primary concern with sulphite levels, a common misconception is that an organic badge inevitably guarantees additional measures taken to ensure environmentally sustainable practice. Often there is crossover, but at other times a producer could make huge efforts to reduce water and energy wastage, but they don't get a badge! So we thought they deserved one too. This means that, for consumers who prioritise the environment over all else, this is the Rascalism for them.

VEGAN

According to McCain, more than half of UK adults are now adopting "vegan buying behaviour", while the number of full blown vegans has grown fourfold in the past 10 years. Often, producers do not specify whether or not their wines are vegan. So we put the graft in to double check each wine in our list, and ensure that the rapidly expanding vegan population can rest assured regarding what's in their bottle.

LOW INTERVENTION

Encompassing all the above, low-intervention wine, also referred to as natural, wild ferment, biodynamic and so on, is one of the most exciting developments in the industry for decades. This new phenomenon, is exciting the younger market, with unusual colours and flavours, in all their gritty glory. With new methods come much trial and error, so all we'll say is that if you've had a bad one, don't let it stop you from trying our exquisite range.

Describing their terroir as “an inexhaustible source of inspiration and treasure”, Viniterra’s philosophy screams of a relationship with their vineyard more passionate than any Shakespearean star-crossed lovers. With a deep understanding of their soils, their climate, fifty years of winemaking experience and a whopping 1,020m of altitude, their wines are as amazing as you could imagine. Consistently bagging awards.

We get why Malbec is still so popular - by the glass and by the bottle - which is why we work with a winery offering a phenomenal standard, at all levels. A couple of years ago, their Single Vineyard bagged ‘best Malbec of the Year’ at the IWSC.

Since acquiring their vineyard in 2001, the power couple that is Martin and Andrea Hirtl has gone from strength to strength in every aspect of their operation, becoming a certified 'Weinertel leading estate' since 2012. While Martin is out checking his vines and tanks, as well as constantly experimenting with a special reserve of grapes, Andrea is the mastermind behind their marketing and outstanding customer service. All of this is passed down to their two sons. The dynamic duo produce remarkably clean and elegant wine.

We have tasted many Gruner Veltliners from their range – all superb – this is ‘the one.’

In the late 18th century, the now great, great, great grandpa Nicholas Smith was awarded the deed for some land for his services in the American Revolution. His son, Henry went on to open a tavern and an inn, the deed for which he signed as 'Henry of Pelham' after the British prime minister, and the name stuck. He soon planted some of Canada's first vineyards on this ideal landscape. In 2017, they became one of only six wineries in Ontario to be certified by the Wine Council of Ontario as following sustainable winemaking practices from soil to shelf.

Tbilvino started out as a huge factory in 1962, a bastion of winemaking for the USSR, apparently responsible for every 9 in 10 bottles across the united countries. As the Iron Curtain fell in the early 90s, Tbilvino gained their independence and their own vineyards, breezing into the Western market as they concentrated and perfected their grape and wine production. Their pride of the Georgian traditions has driven their success, consistently winning awards from bodies such as the IWSC. Tbilvino believe it is their duty to represent "the image of a country with thousands of years of winemaking tradition". What better way to do so than by using traditional Georgian grapes like Saperavi and Rkatsiteli.

Georgian brilliance and very much in demand. Especially the recently voted 'World's Best Red' - Saperavi Red Dry by the IWC 2020
